

ABSTRACT

The cataloguing of the incunabula collections held by the Biblioteca Nazionale Braidense which has taken place over the past four years has brought to light a large amount of information pertaining to the history and circulation of books in the area of Lombardy above all but also elsewhere. Another outcome of the project was an important bibliographical exhibition. Among the most interesting bibliographical results of the work was the new dating for the undated edition of Guillaume d'Auvergne's work De fide et legibus.
